

Deal making and negotiation

Wannabe entrepreneurs can get in some good training with the latest board game from After 8 Games, I'm the Boss.

The winner of a number of awards in the USA, I'm the Boss is a game of cunning deal making and negotiation with each player aiming to make the most money and keep their opponents from succeeding. Players negotiate, form alliances and bargain with fellow players in order to make the deal, but can be successfully blocked by other investors who try and steal the deals. The player who is "the boss" stands to make the most but can be quickly demoted by other players.

From the Sid Sackson Signature Series, I'm the Boss is suitable for three to six players aged 12 and older. It retails for a recommended $54.95.
